

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Company Folders Launches Website

USA, Michigan, Keego Harbor, December 1, 2003

Company Folders Inc., just announced the launch of their new website providing presentation folders, binders and printed materials to businesses.

Dedicated to providing businesses with the ability to have custom printed presentation folders, binders, document folders and other business critical materials in vibrant stunning colors is their goal. Offering full color printing, laminating, embossing, die cutting, binding, UV coating, foil stamping and UV printing enables us to provide our customers with the necessary tools to operate, market and brand their business to the masses.

Offering user-friendly navigation through their site via a category listing of their products and descriptive keywords, it is easy to locate the product you are looking for and to view the numerous printing options available. Detailed pictures showcase the different printable areas of the product, pocket options and feature views of the inside and outside of each product to ensure that the customer knows what they are ordering.

Company Folders also provides customers with stock, ink and foil color charts to help in customizing their order, as well as, product specific information on size, print orientation (portrait or landscape), production and shipping information.

Company Folders, Inc. CEO, Vladimir Gendelman states that “The launch of the Company Folders website has been a dream of mine for some time. Being able to provide businesses with the tools they need to market their products and services and increase brand awareness is an exceptional opportunity for us. It is our goal to help businesses grow by working with them to create vibrant and visually interesting materials that set them apart from the competition.”
